1a.

Top 10 busiest routes:

Route
Sydney-Auckland	2961212
Sydney-Singapore	1440018
Sydney-Tokyo	1292116
Sydney-Hong Kong	1151900
Perth-Singapore	952926
Brisbane-Auckland	893246
Sydney-Christchurch	882357
Melbourne-Singapore	865251
Sydney-Los Angeles	862964
Sydney-Honolulu	861814

top 10 least trafficked routes:

Route
Hobart-Los Angeles	2
Hobart-Tokyo	1
Cairns-Honiara	1
Townsville-San Francisco	1
Darwin-Zagreb	1
Melbourne-Denver	0
Perth-Bandar Seri Begawan	0
Brisbane-Colombo	0
Adelaide-Harare	0
Brisbane-Chicago	0

The above routes, in context, do make sense. Sydney by far is the city with the most connections, and that's fair given this is an Australian company. The routes with the least traffic are generally connecting smaller cities, or cities that are incredibly far from each other, like Southern Australia to the continental United States.

Top 10 Countries by Total Passenger Traffic

Passenger Traffic by Australian Port

Monthly Passenger Traffic (1985–1988)

Total Passenger Traffic by Year (1985–1988)

Outbound/Inbound Imbalance Ratio (Top Routes, 1985–1988)